

What are Community Partnerships?

Community Partnerships are a new way of delivering community health, care and wellbeing services

13 Community Partnerships across Bradford and Airedale, Wharfedale & Craven

Bring together a range of service providers to work in collaboration to deliver improved community services for populations 30- 60,000 people

Right size to develop teams, relationships
Share knowledge, skills and ideas
Break down barriers

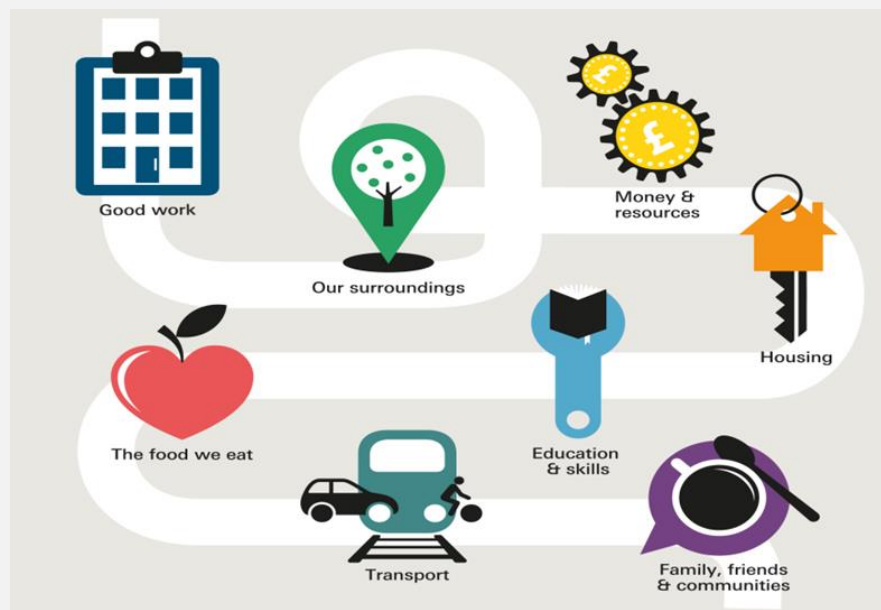

Why are we doing this?

People will be happier, healthier and have access to high quality care and support when needed

Supported in their communities either in their own home, or closer to home

Focus on 'what matters to someone', not just 'what's the matter with someone'

Much broader than just health
We need to look at the bigger picture!!

... Happy, Healthy at Home

Measure of success!

Opportunity for VCS and NHS to be on the same platform

Allows everyone to work together as one team

Created opportunities for discussions to develop joint solutions

Mutual understanding & appreciation of each others work

Putting across ideas from the community 'grass roots' perspective

Building upon our communities assets

Potential for a revolution in how health and care is delivered
